National Night Out

On Aug. 7, Forest Heights residents and police jointly hosted a successful National Night Out. This year's event was held at Bell Acres Neighborhood Park with special appearances by the Maryland-National Capital Park Police and Assistant State's Attorney Rashid Mahdi from the Prince George's County State's Attorney's Office. Residents were treated to free hot dogs, hamburgers, snacks and refreshments, and a number of youths took advantage of a free face painting booth. National Night Out is an annual initiative sponsored by the National Association of Town Watch and held at communities nationwide to raise awareness about crime and drug prevention and strengthen relationships between communities and their local law enforcement agencies. The Forest Heights Neighborhood Watch Committee meets the first Thursday of every month from 7 to 8 p.m. at the town administration building. For information or to join, call 301-839-1030.

Maryland August Special Session

On Aug. 15, the Maryland General Assembly approved the gambling bill, which allows for a sixth gaming site to be built in Prince George's County and tables games such as blackjack and roulette at the state's approved slots locations. The bill was approved and signed by Gov. Martin O'Malley that morning. The measure narrowly cleared the House of Delegates in a 71-58 vote, and the Senate approved the House changes to the bill in a 32-14 vote. A day before, the House amended the legislation to allow veterans' halls in every county except Montgomery to have slots-like machines, according to the Baltimore Sun. The bill also reduces tax rates on slot machine profits for all the currently licensed casinos except Rocky Gap in Western Maryland, where rates are already lower.

The issue will go before voters in the November general election. Prince George's voters will have the final say at the ballot box on whether a casino is brought to the county. If the proposal is approved by the majority of voters statewide but rejected by the majority of Prince George's County voters, the sixth casino will not happen, but table games will be allowed at the five already approved locations. The legislation is expected to generate an additional $175 million for the state once the Prince George's County casino opens, based on state estimates, though only $39 million would come from taxes on table games and the new casino. According to the Washington Post, for the proposed casino in Prince George's County, the eventual operator share would be up to 44 percent with bids accepted up to 38 percent. About 3,000 slot machines would be allowed, and the projected opening date for the casino would be mid-2016, after a casino in Baltimore has been completed. Synopsis of SB1 available at www.forestheightsmd.gov

Sen. Muse Meets with District 26 Residents

Three days before the Aug. 9 Maryland Special Session on gambling, District 26 State Senator C. Anthony Muse hosted a Town Hall Meeting at Oxon Hill Library to gather feedback from constituents on a proposal to develop a gaming site in Prince George's County. Muse referred to gambling and casinos as "an emotionally-charged issue." Mayor Jacqueline Goodall, Councilman Jonathon Kennedy II, and Town Administrator Vern Haefele were among those present at the meeting. Constituents were given the opportunity to speak in favor of or against the development, most likely at National Harbor. Several speakers also indicated that they would support having a casino built at Rosecroft Raceway, but not at National Harbor, citing concerns with potential traffic gridlock along Oxon Hill Road, I-295, and I-495.

Residents on both sides brought up important issues. Those in favor indicated the potential economic benefits such as more jobs created for county residents, more contracting opportunities for minority-owned and small businesses, and more revenue generated for schools. Those who opposed a casino cited concerns to residents' quality of life such as possible decrease in property value, increased crime activity and traffic congestion in the communities surrounding the proposed casino. Some residents were also concerned about the possible moral repercussions of a casino (i.e. gambling addictions).

Watershed Protection and Restoration Program

The Mayor and Council is seeking input from residents on whether the town should implement its own stormwater restoration plan or allow Prince George's County to implement a plan for the town. Earlier this spring, the Maryland General Assembly approved legislation that would require nine counties — including Prince George's — and Baltimore City to establish a system of stormwater remediation fees and a local watershed protection and restoration fund (WPRF). Under this program, counties and municipalities would be required to collect stormwater remediation fees from property owners located within those jurisdictions. The fees would then pay for stream and wetland restoration projects to improve the Chesapeake Bay and its tributaries; public education and outreach related to stormwater management and stream and wetland restoration; the operation and maintenance of existing stormwater management programs and facilities; or local stormwater management planning and planning activities.

Counties and municipalities must adopt any necessary local laws or ordinances needed to establish the WPRF by July 1, 2013. The issue will be raised at the next Mayor and Council Monthly Workshop Sept. 10 at 7:30 p.m. If you will not be able to attend the Monthly Workshop, please contact your respective Ward councilmembers to voice your opinion. To view a version of the original bill, visit <http://mlis.state.md.us/2012rs/billfile/hb0987.htm>.

Street Improvements

Tom Kubicz, a representative for the Baltimore-based consulting engineering firm Pennoni Associates, gave a presentation to the Mayor and Council at the Aug. 15 Council Meeting concerning street improvements. Pennoni is proposing widening Sachem and Black Hawk Lane and adding sidewalks and renovation to help alleviate drainage problems on Cree and Onondago Drive, sidewalks will be compliant with ADA standards. The Town Council is still taking the proposal under consideration and no decision has been made at this point.

We all know somebody that just cannot take personal responsibility for their actions. Think about that person and tell me whether or not they are a successful, healthy and well-adjusted person. Usually when someone cannot handle responsibility for their own actions it is because their self image is so low that it cannot handle the blow associated with "blame ". Conversely, someone self-assured can easily look himself or herself in the mirror, accept that they have made a mistake, take action to rectify that mistake and move on. Taking responsibility for oneself is not just an indication of a sound self-image, but a first step towards one.

Town Hall Meeting Learn how to solve the litter and trash problems

When: Wednesday, September 26, 2012 @ 6:30p.m.

What: Learn how to solve the litter and trash problems in your community and have your questions and concerns addressed.

Where: Municipal Building, 5508 Arapahoe Drive, Forest Heights, MD 20745 (301) 839-1030

Are you tired of seeing litter and trash around your business or home? Are you ready to get involved and be a part of the solution? The Town of Forest Heights has begun collaborating on a litter prevention campaign that will encourage everyone to take control, take care of your trash. By properly discarding trash into bins, recycling, and helping to clean up your neighborhood, we will be one step closer to having clean land, safe water, and healthy lives.

The Alice Ferguson Foundation has led the effort to reduce litter throughout the Potomac Watershed region and is now working with residents of Forest Heights and others within the Oxon Run Watershed. The Alice Ferguson Foundation is working to remind residents that their litter hits close to home- impacting their health, their families, and their communities. In order to reduce litter residents must work to change their littering behaviors, while also working to pick up litter.

The Alice Ferguson Foundation has co-hosted three cleanups in the town of Forest Heights, where elected officials, residents, and student volunteers picked up on average 120lbs of trash and recyclables per cleanup. Most recently, the Alice Ferguson Foundation partnered with the United Communities Against Poverty Organization (UCAP) and the Katie Able Foundation to cleanup parts of the Eastover Shopping Center and Oxon Run Creek. Though the UCAP Organization and Katie Able Foundation are not based in Forest Heights, they were inspired by the community's efforts to reduce waste through the Alice Ferguson's Trash Free Community campaign. Their youth were eager to end their summer program with a worth-while project to improve both the visual and overall quality of life for residents in Forest Heights. During the Cleanup, 30 youth volunteers and 3 adults worked to collect roughly 120lbs of trash and recyclables. Many bulk trash items were also removed from the Oxon Run, including 4 road signs, rubber ware containers, scrap metal, and piles of glass bottles and aluminum cans. Future cleanups in the town of Forest Heights would require more participation from residents of the town.

Regularly scheduled events will help keep people engaged, get litter off the ground, and increase community pride. So let's work together to schedule regular cleanups and recruit our friends and neighbors to attend. Together we can work to create a cleaner, healthier Forest Heights. These cleanups are part of the Alice Ferguson Foundation's Regional Litter Prevention Campaign. Look for the litter prevention posters around town including at Forest Heights Elementary School, Forest Heights Community Development Programs, local businesses, the Municipal Building, and other locations. To learn more about the litter prevention campaign in Forest Heights and how you can get involved, please join us for a town hall meeting on Wednesday, September 26th.

WHAT'S IN A CALENDAR

A calendar is a system used to divide time and arrange the months. Adults and children use calendars almost every day. Calendars can be found hanging on the wall, in your wallet, on your cell phone or a desk date book, all are use to keep track of appointments, anniversaries and other important information. In ancient times people noted the passage of time by sunrise and sunset, seasons and moon phases. Example, it takes about 28 hours for the earth to make one rotation on it axis this is the basis for a day. Months are based on the time between new moons. In 1582, Pope Gregory XIII changed the calendar, and it is still in use today. The calendar is based on how long the Earth takes to make one orbit around the sun. This calculated on 365 1/4 days, thus every four years we have an extra (leap) day in February.
